

American Physician Scientists Association

Southern Regional Meeting

Sponsorship Information

The Southern Regional Meeting of the American Physician Scientists Association will be hosted in Houston, TX at the Texas Medical Center on September 29th, 2018.

Institutional members have the opportunity to sponsor the Conference. There are different levels of sponsorship and recognition will be given to each sponsor at the social and business events, in pre-conference marketing materials, on signage at the conference, and at our website. This is a great opportunity to highlight your program or institution to research-focused medical students and dual-doctoral students from across the South.

All sponsorship items are available on a first come, first serve basis. We reserve the right to substitute benefits included in the packages below depending on availability. All substitutions will be of equal value.
